Dear Colleague

British Menopause Society 28th Annual Conference
A holistic approach to menopause care: HRT and beyond

I am writing to invite you to join us at the British Menopause Society 28th Annual Conference, which takes place on Thursday 5 and Friday 6 July 2018 in London.

This year’s conference programme has been designed to provide a comprehensive range of lectures and workshops to refresh and broaden your knowledge of post-reproductive health and to give you the confidence to manage the menopause in the way you feel is best.

The Programme Planning Group, jointly chaired by Mike Savvas and Haitham Hamoda, has produced an excellent line up including the International Menopause Society invited session chaired by Professor Mary Ann Lumsden; the debate, which this year is This house believes that menopausal women receiving HRT should be advised to undergo hysterectomy to benefit from oestrogen only HRT instead of combined HRT and the ever popular Menopause Café.

We are delighted to welcome Professor James A Simon, from the George Washington University Hospital and Sibley Memorial Hospital in the US, who is delivering the BMS Annual Lecture: Micronised progesterone in HRT: what does the evidence say? We are also pleased to welcome Professor Andrea Genazzani from the University of Pisa in Italy who will give the Pat Patterson Memorial Lecture: HRT: body and mind health, a fantastic opportunity for women.

The full conference programme is shown on pages 4-7.

This is achieved through an annual programme of lectures, conferences, meetings, exhibitions and our interactive website. We offer a range of publications including our quarterly journal Post Reproductive Health and the definitive handbook Management of the Menopause.

Women’s Health Concern (WHC), the patient arm of the BMS, provides an independent service to advise, reassure and educate women of all ages about their health, wellbeing and lifestyle concerns.

WHC offers unbiased information – by telephone, email, printed fact sheets, online and through symposia, seminars, meetings and workshops, including Living and loving well beyond 40…!

www.womens-health-concern.org

Our Mission
• To increase awareness of post reproductive healthcare issues
• To promote optimal management through our educational programme, publications and information dissemination

The challenge of post reproductive health management is increasing. As most British women can expect to live for 30 years or more beyond menopause, the consequences for immediate and longer term healthcare and lifestyle are significant.

British Menopause Society membership is open to healthcare professionals and others specialising in post reproductive health.

Affiliations
The British Menopause Society is a specialist society affiliated to the Royal College of Obstetricians and Gynaecologists and the Faculty of Sexual and Reproductive Healthcare. Working together we have developed theoretical and practical training modules aimed at those healthcare professionals who regularly work in the field of women’s health.
